

Who Rules The World?

Part 1

The Origin Of Evil

Ancient Mythology Or Occult Reality?

Many people would naively answer the above question by saying that Barack Obama, the current `Glove Puppet` US President does. Others might proclaim that it is the UN which exercises global authority. Some of those involved in the same field of research as myself might say that the `Rothschild's and the Illuminati are the `Lords of this world.` Many Christians and Jews will say it is our creator, Yahweh, who should be rightfully regarded as such, for after all, he is `The Lord.` The faithful followers of Islam will pronounce that `Allah` is the almighty most merciful ruler over all creation. Would you be surprised then to discover that nowhere does the Bible say that either Jesus Christ or his Heavenly Father are the real rulers of this world. On the contrary, the scriptures record Jesus as having said: "The ruler of this world will be cast out." And he added: "The ruler of the world is coming, and he has no hold on me."-John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11.

Discovering The Truth:

Those of you who do not consider the Holy Scriptures (or the Koran for that matter) as being the word of God, may be wondering where all of this is leading. But I ask you to bear with me. Contrary to what many who read my articles believe, I am not in any shape or form one who simply accepts all the Biblical accounts without question. Perhaps life might be easier if I did, but that's another story. Even two years ago, if not a confirmed Atheist, I was at the very least highly sceptical about all religion and like many these days raised in the Christian faith, of that belief system particularly.

However, over those two years, having read countless books and articles relating to the Illuminati and the `Global Conspiracy` to create a One World Dictatorship, time and again I have found myself resorting to the Holy Book for explanations, and it is therefore from that `book of ages,` along with the Book Of Enoch and the Holy Koran that I have taken reference from in the main.

The subject matter we are dealing with here is immense and beyond the scope of an article of this nature. However, I hope that what follows will excite the reader's interest sufficiently to prompt further investigation into this important and fascinating subject.

War And Peace:

Throughout world history, mankind has bled and suffered, and it increasingly continues to do so. David Lawrence, the `late` editorial writer asked, "Peace on earth'-nearly everybody wants it. 'Good will toward men'-almost all the peoples of the world feel it toward one another. Then what's wrong? Why is war threatened despite the innate desires of peoples?"

It is indeed perplexing that whilst the natural desire of most people is to live in peace, there are others who almost habitually seem to hate and kill one another-and with a viciousness seen nowhere else amongst those other creatures which share this planet with us. Consider the cold-blooded excesses in monstrous cruelty which man has perpetrated upon his fellow man during the last hundred years alone. Mankind has used gas chambers, concentration camps, flame-throwers, nuclear weapons, napalm bombs, and a multitude of other heinous means and methods to torture and slaughter one another most mercilessly.

I personally do not believe that human beings, who in the majority, long for peace and happiness, are capable in themselves of such gross wickedness. What force drives men to such loathsome deeds, or manoeuvres them into situations, where they feel compelled to commit such atrocities? Like many today involved in this area of investigation, it is my contention that there is lurking in the shadows, behind the scenes, some purely wicked, invisible power which is, through its agents and disciples, manipulating, coercing and influencing people to commit terrible acts of treachery, violence, perversion, and what can only be termed unadulterated evil. If one steps outside the `Matrix,` and considers the `bigger picture,` this pandemic evil can be seen as being anything but a collection of random unconnected incidents and occurrences. To the contrary, it appears to be a driven, systematic, controlled, and malevolent agenda, manipulating the course of world events towards a defined `end game.`

Most who understand believe that `end game` to be the `New World Order` and the establishment of a One World Dictatorship. But is there more to it all than just a collection of ego-maniacal men of fantastic wealth and resources who, drunk on power, seek total and complete dominion over the planet and all who live upon it? Is there a greater force, of even supernatural powers behind it all? Let's examine the facts!

The Ruler of the World Identified:

For Christians, there is no need to guess at who the ruler of this world is, for the Bible clearly tells us that an intelligent, hitherto unseen being, has been controlling both men and nations since the very dawn of humanity. It says: "The whole world is lying in the power of the wicked one." And the Bible identifies him, saying: "The one called Devil and Satan is misleading the entire inhabited earth."-1 John 5:19; Revelation 12:9.

On one occasion when Jesus was `tempted` by the Devil,` he did not question Satan's role as the ruler of this world. The Bible explains what happened: "The Devil took him along to an unusually high mountain, and showed him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory, and he said to him: 'All these things I will give you if you fall down and do an act of worship to me.' Then Jesus said to him: "Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve!"-Matthew 4:1, 8-10.

The Scriptures tell us then that Satan/Lucifer tempted Jesus by offering him "all the kingdoms of the world." Would this offer have been any kind of temptation at all if Satan was not the actual ruler of these kingdoms? No, it would not, and note; Jesus did not deny that all these worldly governments were Satan's, which he would have done if Satan had not had power over them. So, then, Satan/Lucifer/the Devil really is the unseen ruler of the world! The Bible, in fact, calls him "The god of this system of things." (2 Corinthians 4:4)

In order to understand how this evil entity achieved his power over mankind, we need to carefully, and with an open mind, examine the Biblical account.

We are told in the book of Genesis that the one who became Satan had originally been an angel created by Yahweh God, but that he became envious and rebelled, challenging God's ascendancy over all creation. Genesis then tells us that he used a serpent as a mouthpiece to deceive the first woman, Eve, and was thus able to get her and her husband, Adam, to do his bidding rather than obey God. (Genesis 3:1-6; 2 Corinthians 11:3) He also claimed he could turn all of Adam and Eve's yet unborn offspring away from God.

Significantly, Satan is not alone in his worldly dominion. He was successful in persuading some of the other angels to join him in rebellion against God. These are the Angels and `Sons of God` mentioned in the below verses:

"And the great dragon was cast out, that old `serpent,` called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: He was cast out into the earth and his angels were cast out with him."Book Of Revelation 12:9

"And it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them, That the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they chose. And the LORD said, My spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh, yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years. The Nephilim were upon the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bore children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown." Gen. 6:1-7.

The Bible speaks of these `Fallen Angels` when it urges Christians to: "Stand firm against the machinations of the Devil; because we have a wrestling, not against blood and flesh, but . . . against the world rulers of this darkness, against the wicked spirit forces in the heavenly places."-Ephesians 6:11, 12.

We can see from the above that we are actually dealing with two distinct and separate `falls,` a salient point we shall return to later.

Bene Haelohim: Sons Of God or Sons Of Seth?

The term `Sons of God,` or `Bene Haelohim,` has been debated for centuries as to whether it refers to the Angels of God, or the godly line of believers that descended down through Adam's son Seth. A further complication is that in the New Testament, the term is also used to identify men/women who have accepted Christ as their Saviour. But in the OT, it is used on five occasions and each time in reference to Angels. Four use the phrase, sons of the God, Bene Haelohim, and only one, Job 38:7, has it as sons of God,

Bene Elohim, omitting the definite article:

Genesis 6:2, "That the sons of God, Bene Haelohim, saw the daughters of men."

Genesis 6:4, "When the sons of God, Bene Haelohim, came in unto the daughters of men."

Job 1:6, "Now there was a day when the sons of God, Bene Haelohim, came to present themselves before the LORD."

Job 2:1, "Again there was a day when the sons of God, Bene Haelohim, came to present themselves before the LORD."

Job 38:7, "And all the sons of God, Bene Elohim, shouted for joy."

The interpretation of Genesis 6 which takes `The Sons of God` as referring to the line of Seth, conveniently `sidesteps` the obvious problem of how ethereal spirit creatures could copulate with humans. This thesis appeared very early on in such thinkers as Chrysostom and St. Augustine, and was later adopted by reformers such as Luther and Calvin.

But I believe that there are sound and objective reasons for rejecting this interpretation in favour of the angelic or supernatural view. As far as the Biblical use of the phrase `The Sons of God` (Bene Elohim) is concerned, as we can see in the above examples, in each case, it clearly means spirit beings; those fallen spirits who accompanied Satan in his periodic appearances before the Lord in heaven.

Another factor which lends veracity to the `Angel` interpretation of Genesis 6 is that this was the view of the translators of the Septuagint[3], who rendered `Sons of God` as meaning `Angels,` as did other Jewish writers in the pre-Christian era. But the key which unlocks the mystery is the Book of Enoch[4]. In relation to Genesis 6:1-7, Enoch writes:

"And it came to pass when the children of men had multiplied that in those days were born unto them beautiful and comely daughters. And the angels, the children of heaven, saw and lusted after them, and said to one another: 'Come, let us choose us wives from among the children of men and beget us children.' They were in all two hundred [They] took unto themselves wives, and each chose for himself one, and they began to go in unto them and to defile themselves with them, and they taught them charms and enchantments.... And they became pregnant, and they bare great giants [1], whose height was three thousand ells.... And there arose much godlessness, and they committed fornication, and they were led astray, and became corrupt in all their ways" (chs. 6-8).

The Biblical account of the `Fallen Angels` is strengthened and in many ways confirmed by the Sumerian legends of the Annunaki (Those Who From Heaven To Earth Came), notwithstanding the rather eccentric accounts of those beings found in Zechariah Sitchin's Earth Chronicles. Ancient Mesopotamian Mythology attributes the creation of the Sumerian culture to the Gods, or `Anunnaki` whom it can be seen equate in many ways with the Biblical `Nephilim.` It is pertinent to our investigation that there are many parallels between the Old Testament tales and the myths of Sumer, Akkad, Assyria and Babylon, including the tale of the `Flood,` and that when `speaking` of the Annunaki, nowhere in the ancient scriptures of those cultures are the Fallen Ones or `Sons of Anu,` depicted as being anything other than Godly beings [2]. I suggest that until proved conclusively otherwise, we should give the Nephilim of the Biblical Account the same benefit of the doubt.

So, if we accept that that the `Son's Of God` in Genesis 6 were `Angels,` then it is logical to assume that the union between Angels and `the daughters of men` would produce the `mighty men` of antiquity? Since this verse specifically refers to the `heroes of old,` then it is probable that in this, we have the origin of those stories of half- human, half-divine figures present in virtually all ancient mythologies? The stories of Homer and other writers would have been embellished of course, but they probably reflect genuine memories of these ancient outstanding figures of the pre-Flood period.

When we put all this together we can justifiably conclude that the `Fallen Angels,` or Nephilim, were just that, and able to procreate with the women here on earth, and that this hybrid union created a race of giants that have been recorded in different countries as being easily eight feet tall, nine feet tall, eleven feet tall, eighteen feet, twenty three feet and larger![1]

Two Falls?

"And the great dragon was cast out, that old `serpent,` called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: He was cast out into the earth and his angels were cast out with him."Book Of Revelation 12:9

In his detailed exegesis (Hebrew Union College 1939), scholar Julian Morgernstern shows not only that the `Sons Of God` were Angels incarnated, but that `tied up` in the Genesis verses are two distinct accounts of separate `falls.` Namely, that of Lucifer's rebellion against God in Eden, and his subsequent fall from pride, accompanied by a multitude of lesser angels, known as the Nephilim, and the other, that referred to in Genesis 6:1-7, more faithfully recorded in the book of Enoch (see page three above) the later fall of the angels also known as the `Watchers,`[5]who fell from grace through lust after the daughters of men.

This sheds new light on this passage: "The Nephilim were upon the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bore children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown."

By this, we can presume that there were Nephilim already present, when the `Sons Of God` or Watchers, fell through lust and that they remained there after that.

Revelation 12:9 teaches that the Nephilim became as `flesh` on earth, and is confirmed in its assertion by Genesis 6:4 which tells us that the same fate became the condition of the `Watchers.`

Before we move on, a misunderstanding needs clarifying, regarding the term

`Nephilim.` The correct meaning of the term is `cast down ones` clearly referring to the `Sons Of God` or Fallen Angels and not their hybrid offspring, the Gibborim and Anakim.

In his book `The Days Of Noah,` which lends heavily from the Books Of Enoch, Jubilees and other Hebrew Apocrypha, Jeremy Knapp writes:

"Unlike Istehar, the pious maiden, Naamah, the lovely sister of Tubal-cain, led the angels astray with her beauty, and from her union with the watcher Shamdon, sprang the devil Asmodeus. She was as shameless as all the other descendants of Cain, and as prone to bestial indulgences. Cainite women and Cainite men alike were in the habit of walking abroad naked, and they gave themselves up to every conceivable manner of lewd practices. Of such were the women whose beauty and sensual charms tempted the angels from the path of virtue. The angels, on the other hand, no sooner had they rebelled against God and descended to Earth than they lost their transcendental qualities, and were invested with sublunary bodies, so that a union with the daughters of men became possible. The offspring of these alliances between the angels and the Cainite women were the giants, known for their strength and their sinfulness; as their very name, the Emim, indicates, they inspired fear. They have many other names. Sometimes they go by the name Rephaim, because one encounter with them makes one's heart grow weak; or by the name Gibborim, simply giants, because their size was so enormous that their thigh measured nearly two ells; or by the name Zamzummim, because they were great masters in war; or by the name Anakim, because they touched the sun with their neck; or by the name Ivvim, because, like the snake, they could judge of the qualities of the soil; or finally, by the name Nephilim, because, bringing the world to its fall, they themselves fell." The Days Of Noah by Jeremy Knapp[6]

We will now turn to that other aspect of the `unholy alliance;` the line of Cain, mentioned in the verse above, with whom it is said the Nephilim copulated, and which, according to occult mythology, produced the Satanic Seed-line of the Illuminati?

Return To Eden:

Before we get to the `meat` of this section, the reader should be aware that this hypothesis is based on my own research and study, along with that of several others, including in part, the late Pastor Bertrand L. Comparet; A man whose racial prejudices I do not share, but whose examination of the Book of Genesis, where it relates to the events in the Garden of Eden, and the subsequent life of Cain, I find at the very least plausible, and which offers `workable` answers to questions, where other's simply don't.

So, to continue:

It is generally believed that the Bible teaches that Adam and Eve were the first humans, but a closer look at Genesis 1:26-28 reveals something quite different. If we read these verses carefully, we discover that God had already created man and woman prior to Adam and Eve:

26" And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.27 So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.28 And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth." Genesis 1:26-28 KJV.

Later in Chapter 2: 7 we read: "And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.8 And the LORD God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed.8"

And further in Chapter 2:21 "And the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept; and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof.22 And the rib, which the LORD God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man."

So at the time Yahweh created Adam and Eve, we can fairly infer that there were already other humans upon the earth. Then in Genesis 3:1-6 we read: "1 Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? 2 And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: 3 but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. 4 And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: 5 for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil."

So, how many reading this believe that the entity that deceived Eve was a literal Serpent or Snake? When the Old Testament was translated, the word `Serpent` was converted from the Hebrew `Nachash,` which means enchanter or magician. I concur with Pastor Comporet when he suggests that we are dealing with a `Fallen Angel,` namely Lucifer, though now corporeal, who still retained some if not all of his Angelic powers, and could no doubt appear both enchanting and seductive to a hitherto pure and naïve girl like Eve.

The `translators` of the King James Version of the Bible, also mistranslated the Hebrew word `Pirchach,` meaning progeny, brood, children or descendants into `fruit.` But surely, what the original text was referring to was the `fruit of loins,` or the descendants of the human family `tree,` which was in the middle of the symbolic garden. Yahweh was implicit: "Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it." That word `touch` is in the original Hebrew `Naga,` which is a polite way of saying to have sexual intercourse with.

Yahweh did not want either Adam or Eve to mix with the other humans. Satan had corrupted and contaminated those created before Adam, and so Yahweh was determined that Satan's poisonous evil would not do likewise to his pure and yet uncorrupted creation.

In Genesis 3:13, Yahweh has summoned Adam, Eve and Satan before him to give account for their misdeeds. The King James Bible records Eve as saying, "The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat thereof." Again we have the Hebrew word `Nachash,` meaning enchanter. Then there is the use of the word beguiled; the Hebrew word there is `Nawshaw,` which means SEDUCED. The English word `beguiled` means to influence by trickery, flattery and also implies deception or delusion by a form of stealth. The word `Nawshaw` means SEDUCED. No honest translator can come up with the word `beguiled` from `Nawshaw.` (even the Google translator gets it right). So with the correct wording, the verse should read "And Yahweh God said unto the woman, what is this thou hast done? And the woman said, the enchanter seduced me."

So Lucifer/Satan, call him what you will, seduced Eve. He `Knew` her in the Biblical sense.

In Genesis 3:15 Yahweh says to Satan, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed." Pastor Comparet's research into the Hebrew language and subsequent conclusions show clearly that the same word `Zehra` was used for both the seed of Satan and the seed of Eve. Zehra literally means seed, and is used consistently throughout the Bible to denote the descendants of a person.

So now we come to it; Satan in this `coupling` was to have his own literal progeny in this world, on this earth, in this dimension, in the same way as was Eve with her husband Adam.

Some days ago, I was visited by the Jehovah's Witnesses. Now rather than be rude and just usher them away, I mentioned the hypothesis I am presenting here to them, and waited for their response. And predictably, as Pastor Comparet suggested detractors might, they parroted this verse: "And Adam knew his wife, and she conceived and bare Cain."

But was this cause and effect? Nowhere in the Bible does it say `Adam begat Cain.` Throughout the Old Testament, lineages are recorded in very specific terms, such as this person begat that person and so on. Those responsible for remembering and reciting the lore of tribes and nations took their job very seriously. Bloodline meant that one either belonged or didn't. So how do we explain this?

Eve, having been wholly seduced by Satan (Genesis 3:13, II Corinthians 11:3, I Timothy 2:14) having tasted of the `fruit,` then offers `it` to Adam who partakes of his now defiled wife (Genesis 3:12). Eve conceives twice. The two `seeds` produce Cain and then Abel (Genesis 4:1-2). The Bible tells us that Eve was the mother of mankind (Genesis 3:20) but Adam was NOT the father of Cain, Satan was. Thus, two separate lineages were established, one the seed of man and the other the seed of Satan the deceiver and adversary[7].

So returning to Adam's genealogy; we can now explain and conclude that Abel's omission is likely due to the fact that he was killed by his brother Cain, before he left any descendants of his own. But lack of posterity cannot account for Cain's absence in Adam's lineage, as the Bible traces his line for six generations unbroken. Not once is Cain recorded as being a descendant of Adam. In fact, the only child attributed to Adam is Seth in Genesis 5:3: "And Adam lived 130 years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his image; and called his name Seth."

The Satanic Bloodline:

So, if the Satanic Bloodline crept in through Cain, and possibly even earlier, among the pre Adamic people (Genesis 1:26-28) it is plausible that some of the descendants of Adam were also infected through marriage with the Cainites. Furthermore, by the very fact that those living around Noah were wiped out by the flood, it appears evident that they did mix their bloodline. In his book, `The Days Of Noah` Jeremy Knapp writes:

"Unfortunately, at the time of Methuselah, following the death of Adam, the family of Seth became corrupted after the manner of the Cainites. The two strains united with each other to execute all kinds of iniquitous deeds. The result of the marriages between them were Godless and many, whose sins hurried the deluge upon the world. In their arrogance they claimed the same pedigree as the posterity of Seth, and they compared themselves with princes and men of noble descent."

Yahweh's intention was to take back the world from Satan's dominion, and he was going to rule it according to his purpose. He was going to rule it through through the descendants of Adam. The obvious counter to this move on Satan's part would be to mix in his own line with that of the descendants of Adam, and then he could haughtily claim: "These are all my children. All have my blood in them."

This it appears is exactly what Satan set out to do, and considering the carnage witnessed down through the ages, and current torrid world events in particular, one could be forgiven for regarding his mission a resounding success; To date at least!

But there is a problem with all of this; The Flood! The Bible appears adamant that only Noah and his family survived?

In the second of this two part series, we will attempt to establish whether the Satanic Bloodline survived the Great Flood, and if so how. We will discover who and what the Illuminati is, and how they connect with that great and awful evil force which appears to permeate our sad planet these days.

Who Rules The World?

Part 2

The Origin Of Evil

Ancient Mythology Or Occult Reality?

By Philip Jones
7-9-9

Introduction:

Following on from Part One, in this the second part in the series, we will attempt to establish whether the Satanic Bloodline survived the Great Flood, and if so how. Then in the Final Part, we will discover who and what the Illuminati is, and how it's `web` connects with that great and awful evil force whose influence appears to permeate all the institutions of our sad planet these days. Finally taking all we have discussed, we will decide as to whether the eternal adversary of God and man, the great deceiver, Lucifer/Satan, is indeed the driving force behind the creation of the World Tyranny which has been erected methodically and systematically around our lives.

To many orthodox Christians, some of the themes in this article will appear at the very least heretical, unscriptural and even shocking. But I have approached this series from the point of view of an investigator, not a theologian. As a former Police Officer with over twenty one years experience, I understand the need to examine all the evidence, no matter where it originates, with an open mind, and to only dismiss that which is found to be improbable, at the very least circumstantially improvable and ultimately erroneous. We are dealing with events in the far distant past, and much of the reference sources are contradictory, and biased towards one thesis or another. I have tried to avoid such bias, and as I have learnt over the past two years, the only thing which is carved in stone, is that carved which is carved in stone. So be of an open mind.

The theme of this article is whether there is a supernaturally evil force which with the aid of others like itself, it's blood kin, and it's disciples, is operating behind the scenes, manipulating world events, towards a definite goal; that being the creation of a World Dictatorship and earthly dominion. This is not a theological dissertation.

But before we can arrive at that point, we must traverse the `Flood.` Without proving that the Satanic Bloodline survived the deluge of water sent by God, then this hypothesis falls flat on it's face; so in order for that not to happen, it is to that one critical event we must now turn all our attention to, at least for the next few pages. So, to the evidence.

The Great Flood:

The Bible appears to tell us that the the flood destroyed not only the `Giants,` but also the entire line of Cain? That it was only Noah and his three sons who began the antediluvian age of mankind. But if we read Genesis Chapter Six and take it literally, then it seems to state clearly that there were also Nephilim, or their descendants at least, after the flood. Furthermore, the Book Of Jubilees [1] also tells us that the children of the Nephilim, known as the Anakim were not entirely annihilated by the flood, recounting how a remnant of that evil race of giants were spared, and that sometime after the waters had receded, Noah learned that these `evil spirits, born of the Fallen Angels were seducing and misleading his grandchildren, and even killing some of them.

{ According to their own occult mythology, the Illuminati[2]represent the modern day descendants of the Fallen Angels, who their arcane mystery school doctrines claim also inhabited the mythical lost continent of Atlantis. Then, in succeeding generations following the great deluge and the `sinking` of Atlantis, their progeny the Anakim returned once again to haunt mankind. }

And what's more there is good reason to believe that the line of Cain also survived!

Let's Read on!

The Sumerian Flood Story:

The theme of a great and destructive flood is not unique to the Bible. Flood myths with many similarities to the Genesis account appear widely in subsequent Ancient Near Eastern mythologies: including the Atrahasis myth, the Utnapishtim episode in the Sumerian Epic of Gilgamesh[3], and the ancient Greeks also had a very similar flood myth. In all of these stories, deities (or a deity) create the animals and human beings, but people anger the god(s), so they decide to wipe out all of the people and animals with a flood. A divine being warns one pious person of the impending deluge and tells him to build a very large boat, and with it he preserves humankind, and usually the animals, from extinction. In the end the god(s) reward him for his actions.

In its fully developed form, the Mesopotamian flood myth appears in the 'Epic of Gilgamesh,' one of the first literary masterpieces, which relates the adventures of a Hero-King of Sumer. The earliest versions of the epic derive from the first part of the second millennium BC (corresponding roughly with the time of the Biblical account). The story of the flood is told to Gilgamesh by Utnapishtim, the counterpart of Noah in the story. Advised by the god Ea (Enki) that his city is to be destroyed by flood, Utnapishtim is told to build a ship for his family, servants, and animals. After a seven-day deluge of heavenly waters, the vessel comes to rest on a mountaintop. The wrath of the gods has been appeased, and Utnapishtim and his wife are granted immortality.

Parallel legends were told in other parts of the Middle East at an early date. The Mesopotamian version was probably brought to Canaan, the land where the Israelites settled, by the patriarch Abraham, who hailed from Ur in what was at one time Sumer, and was subsequently transmitted down through Isaac, and Jacob. The original tale was undoubtedly reshaped many times, not least by the Sumerians and Akkadians themselves, to fit with their own pantheon. It is very likely also that later Hebrew writers did likewise.

As the similarities are obvious, some detractors from the Holy Scriptures feel this throws doubt on the validity of the Biblical account, inferring a form of religious plagiarising. We must remember that we are speaking about the same region here, and who is to say which version is more correct than the other. As I said above, people have a tendency to make the truth fit.

I however take the view that the Sumerian legend corroborates the Biblical account, rather than detracts from it, and furthermore, similar equivalents confirm and give credibility not only to the theme of the great deluge, but also the Old Testament as a whole. Many sceptics falsely assume that the Sumerian `Flood` pre-dates the Biblical account by thousands of years, thus lending credence to the theory that the former is the authentic version of events, whilst the latter a pale imitation. But this is not the case. As we shall see:

Was The Flood Worldwide?

It is more or less a universally preached dogma in nearly all churches that the Biblical Flood, covered the whole surface of the earth and drowned all living things, excepting Noah, his family and the other creatures who escaped death by being on the Ark. Some churches have firmly insisted that this is the case, when there is ample proof that the `flood` was not world wide.

The Quran, written in the 7th century AD, gives a similar account to that of the Genesis flood story, the major differences being that only Noah and a small number of believers enter the ark. The Quranic flood is purely local, sent to punish those people around Noah who worshipped Idols and became corrupt-ors in the earth. In the Islamic version, Allah sends the Flood to punish those who refuse to listen to Noah's preaching of the oneness of Allah. The Quranic ark comes to rest on Mount Judi, which has been traditionally identified with a mountain near Mosul in modern Iraq. The name appears to derive from the name of the local Kurdish people, although this is not certain.

Returning to the Bible, part of this mistaken idea about the `flood` is due to the many mistranslations found in the King James version. In Genesis Chapter Six, we read that God found the people so corrupt, that he regretted having ever created them, so he determined that he would wipe them out by a flood. He warned righteous Noah of the coming deluge and told him to build a great boat, or ark, in which he and his family might find safety and where they might preserve a few of each kind of the animals from that area. Then in Genesis Chapter Seven, it says:

"And it came to pass after seven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up and the windows of heaven were opened. And the rain was upon the earth 40 days and 40 nights. And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark went upon the waters. And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; and all the high hills that were under the whole heaven were covered. 15 cubits upward did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered. And all flesh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl and of cattle, and of beast and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth; and every man.

And the waters prevailed upon the earth 150 days. And God remembered Noah and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark; and God made a wind to pass over the earth and the water assuaged. And the waters returned from off the earth continually and after the end of the 150 days the waters were abated. And the ark rested, in the 7th month, on the 17th day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat. And the waters decreased continually until the 10th month; in the 10th month, on the 1st day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen." KJV Gen 7:11-

Again there is a discrepancy between the translation and what the `author` originally wrote as the text of the Greek Septuagint confirms. The KJV says that the rain was upon "the earth" and the waters increased greatly upon "the earth," and that "all flesh died that moved upon the earth." But in actuality, the Greek text says something quite different.

In Genesis 4:14, when God drove Cain away in punishment for killing Abel, the KJV has Cain saying, "Behold, Thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the earth." But Cain's line is recorded for six whole generations up to the time of the flood, so he can hardly have suffered that fate.

In his article, `Noah's Flood Was Not Worldwide,` Pastor B.L. Compant goes on to explain that the original Hebrew text read, "ad-aw-maw" meaning "the ground." God had told Cain that his farming days were over, so Cain said, "Thou hast driven me off of the ground."

In Genesis Chapter Seven, where it talks about the flood, wherever it says that the flood covered "the earth," the Hebrew word used in the original text was `eh-rats,` meaning `the land.` The flood did cover the particular land where it occurred. That is, as the Quran corroborates, it was a local flood which covered one particular region or land, not the entire planet.

Using logic and reason as our basis, if the whole earth was covered by six miles of water as the translators will have us believe, then all nations at that time must have been completely exterminated. Yet Babylonian, Egyptian and Chinese history runs right through this period without a break. The Bible gives the date of the flood as commencing in 2345 B.C. and ending in 2344 B.C. (roughly corresponding to the time frame given in the Sumerian account) In lower Sumer, later called `Chaldea` (which occupied the same `Plains of Shinar` to which Noah's family journeyed after the flood), the city of Ur of the Chaldees was the pre-eminent `metropolis` from about 2400 B.C. until about 2285 B.C. and its history is not broken by any flood during this period.

Further north, Babylon was rising to power from about 2400 B.C. and reached a great height of civilization under the famous King Hammurabi, who lived at the same time as the Hebrew patriarch Abraham (about 2250 B.C.), and again there is no break in this history due to a flood either. In Egypt, the Eleventh Dynasty began to reign about 2375 B.C. `over a great and powerful nation.` The Eleventh Dynasty ruled to about 2212 B.C., and was followed by the Twelfth Dynasty, which ruled to about 2000 B.C.. There was no break in the Eleventh Dynasty at the time of Noah's flood, 2345 B.C.. The nation continued to be large and powerful throughout this period.

Accurate history of China begins around 3000 B.C. The `Shu-King` historic record of China, shows that King Yao came to the throne in 2356 B.C., 11 years before the start of Noah's flood, and ruled China for many years after the flood. During his reign, the `Shu King` reports that the Hwang Ho River (which drains mountains and a great basin in Sinkiang province) had excessive floods for three generations. Here again, there was no break in history. The Chinese nation was not wiped out. Its own records show that it continued in existence right through the period of Noah's flood.

Tracing Footsteps:

To identify the location of the deluge, we will have to start with Adam and Eve and trace where they and their descendants went. Pastor Comparet in his article tracks their movements beginning with their departure from Eden:

"When Adam and Eve were driven out of the Garden of Eden, Genesis 3:24, tells us that God placed cherubim with a flaming sword at the east side of the Garden, to keep Adam and Eve from returning and having access to the `tree of life.` If this guard was to accomplish anything, it must have been placed between Adam and the Garden of Eden. So we see that Adam and Eve were driven out to the east. From Eden, Adam's course would naturally have led him across northern Iran, around the southern end of the Caspian Sea, into what was formerly called Chinese Turkistan and today is known as Sinkiang province in the extreme west of China. It was here, in a mountain rimmed basin, which was then a fertile and well populated land, that Adam and Eve, or at least their descendants of a few generations later, settled."

When Cain murdered Abel, and was banished from the land where Adam and Eve lived, Genesis 4:16 tells us that Cain "went out from the presence of the Lord and dwelt in the Land of Nod, on the east of Eden." The Hebrew word `nod` means wandering. That, I would suggest would mean his wandering along the upper Tigris and Euphrates valleys, at the north of Eden[4]. It was here in the land then known as `Sumer,` and later called `Chaldea` that Cain likely settled. The Bible calls it, "the Plain of Shinar." That indicates that Cain travelled westward from where Adam and Eve had settled, (which we will see means he avoided the flood and escaped extermination for himself and his line?)

More evidence can be found in Genesis 11:2, which tells us that following the flood, Noah's descendants "journeyed from the east," until they came to the land of Shinar. Therefore, they must have come from some place east of the Tigris and Euphrates Valleys. Based on topography, the only place where such a flood as the Bible describes could have occurred, eastward from the that location, is the mountain basin in Sinkiang.

In short, the basin, through which flows the Tarim River and which is sometimes known as the Tarim Basin[5] in southern Sinkiang, can be reasonably identified as being the the site of Noah's flood.

But Genesis 8:4, reads, "And the ark rested in the 7th month, on the 17th day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat?" Most understand this to mean Mount Ararat, in Armenia, some 1,600 miles west of the Tarim Basin. But this is NOT what the Bible says. First of all, note that it says "mountains of Ararat," mountains being in the plural, while Mount Ararat, in Armenia, is only a single peak. Furthermore, the Hebrew word `Ararat` means `the tops of the hills.` Therefore correctly translated, Genesis 8:4 actually tells us that the Ark came to rest upon the tops of the high hills, some of the lower mountains which were within the valley.

Adding weight to our thesis that the Biblical Flood was localised, there is no suggestion anywhere in the Epic Of Gilgamesh, that their great deluge was anything other than local.

Survivors Of The Lost Ark:

So having established to a high degree of probability using Biblical, Historical and Geographic rationale, that the flood was not global, and that due to Cain's wandering westwards prior to the great deluge, we can reasonably concur that his line and therefore that of Satan's and the Nephilim survived through his progeny. However, there is a Gnostic version of events which needs examining before we can really begin to understand the dynamics of what is going on here.

There is a suggestion that the `seed` continued from the point of origin of a more unexpected source. The Canonical Scriptures maintain that the only people upon the Ark were Noah, his wife, Shem, Ham, Japheth, and their wives. The question is, was there a descendant of Cain amongst them? Since the Bible tells us that Noah was descended from the line of Seth, Adam's `righteous` son, we need to take a closer look at the others on-board.

In Part One, we concluded that it was likely that the `Sethites` had mixed their blood with those of the Cainites. According to Hebrew Apocryphal texts, the race of the Anakim was continued through the descendants of one of Noah's grandsons; Canaan, the son of Ham. In Genesis 9:20-24 we read:

"20 Now Noah started off as a farmer and proceeded to plant a vineyard. 21 And he began drinking of the wine and became intoxicated, and so he uncovered himself in the midst of his tent. 22 Later Ham the father of Ca'naan saw his father's nakedness and went telling it to his two brothers outside. 23 At that Shem and Ja'pheth took a mantle and put it upon both their shoulders and walked in backwards. Thus they covered their father's nakedness, while their faces were turned away, and they did not see their father's nakedness. 24 Finally Noah awoke from his wine and got to know what his youngest son had done to him. 25 At this he said: "Cursed be Ca'naan. Let him become the lowest slave to his brothers."

To those who do not understand the terms "uncovered" and "the nakedness of his father," in the Biblical sense, it would be helpful to take a look at Leviticus Chapters 18 and 20. These deal with laws forbidding acts of immorality and the penalties for those who have committed any such acts. According to Leviticus 18:8 and 20:11, "A man who lay with his father's wife had `uncovered` his father's nakedness." Read also Deuteronomy 22:30 and 1 Corinthians 5:1.

What Genesis appears to be telling us is that Ham committed incest with his mother, whilst Noah was drunk and lying naked in his tent. Both Ham and Noah's wife were therefore guilty of a perverted sexual act according to the law of Yahweh.

So, when Noah awoke from his wine and became sober, he pronounced a curse upon Ham in the person of his youngest son Canaan. To Ham himself he could do no harm, for God had conferred a blessing upon Noah and his three sons as they departed from the ark. Therefore he put the curse upon the last-born son of the son that had prevented him from fathering a younger son than the three he had.

Certain heretical Jewish texts state that Noah's wife was a Cainite? Again, this is only `myth or legend,` but for the purposes of this hypothesis, it is worth investigating further. In the genealogy of Cain's descendants, a woman by the name of Naamah is mentioned (Genesis 4:22.) In the Bible record of genealogy, women were not mentioned unless they played a significant role in the history of the Hebrew people. So why was she named? Was Naamah the wife of Noah? And if so, that would make her Ham's mother. In his book `The Days Of Noah,` a scholarly compilation of the Books Of Enoch, Jubilees and other Apocrypha, Author Jeremy Knapp writes:

"Unlike Istehar, the pious maiden, Naamah, the lovely sister of Tubal-cain, led the angels astray with her beauty, and from her union with the watcher Shamdon, sprang the devil Asmodeus. She was as shameless as all the other descendants of Cain, and as prone to bestial indulgences. Cainite women and Cainite men alike were in the habit of walking abroad naked, and they gave themselves up to every conceivable manner of lewd practices. Of such were the women whose beauty and sensual charms tempted the angels from the path of virtue. The angels, on the other hand, no sooner had they rebelled against God and descended to Earth than they lost their transcendental qualities, and were invested with sublunary bodies, so that a union with the daughters of men became possible. The offspring of these alliances between the angels and the Cainite women were the giants, known for their strength and their sinfulness; as their very name, the Emim, indicates, they inspired fear. They have many other names. Sometimes they go by the name Rephaim, because one encounter with them makes one's heart grow weak; or by the name Gibborim, simply giants, because their size was so enormous that their thigh measured nearly two ells; or by the name Zamzummim, because they were great masters in war; or by the name Anakim, because they touched the sun with their neck; or by the name Ivvim, because, like the snake, they could judge of the qualities of the soil; or finally, by the name Nephilim, because, bringing the world to its fall, they themselves fell." The Days Of Noah by Jeremy Knapp[6]

If this is the same Naamah, then Ham must have inherited the Satanic Bloodline from her, and it would have been similarly the case with Shem and Japheth. also.

So, we have the righteous Noah (of Seth's lineage) and his Cainite or even hybrid wife, (considering the coupling of the Nephilim with `the daughters of Cain`) who gave birth to three sons of mixed blood. These sons, in turn, very likely would have married Cainite women, or women also of mixed lineage. During that time, as we established in part one, the earth was populated by pre Adamic people who had been corrupted by Satan, before the arrival of Adam and Eve. These, along with the Cainites and the Anakim are the "people who filled the earth with wickedness, evil, and violence" (Genesis 6:1-13).

Evidence of The Anakim After The Flood:

As we proceed to untangle the truth from the web of mistranslations and contradictory mythologies, and having hypothesised that the Satanic line of Cain was almost certainly continued after the flood. We need to establish beyond reasonable doubt that the progeny of the Nephilim survived in order to determine as to whether they live among us today. In order to do so, we must return again to ancient Mesopotamia, and research not only the Biblical texts, but their Sumerian, Akkadian and Babylonian counterparts.

Nimrod: A Mighty Hunter Before The Lord!

We first encounter Nimrod in Genesis 10:8-10; "And Cush begat Nimrod: he began to be a mighty one (first king) in the earth. He was a mighty hunter before the LORD: wherefore it is said, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the LORD."

Nimrod, a descendent of Noah, was responsible for building the city of Babel (Babylon), and he became the founder of Nineveh and other great cities in Assyria. He distinguished himself as a hunter, ruler, and builder. He lived for an undetermined amount of centuries after the Flood, and was the grandson of Ham. Said to be a bold man, and of great strength of hand . He persuaded men not to ascribe to God, in order to bring them into a constant dependence upon his own power (shades of the ungodly modern secular state). Fearful of another flood, he swore to build a tower too high for the waters to reach! Thus avenging himself on God for destroying his forefathers!

Tower Of Babel.

In his book, `Cloak Of The Illuminati,` William Henry Writes:

"Many legends have grown up around the name of Nimrod. His name appears to be a title, Nimrod is a Hebrew term. Nimrod was born in Sumeria, c. 2250 BC. Consequently, his birth name would have been Sumerian/Akkadian and not Hebrew. In post-biblical traditions, Nimrod, the inciter of "rebellion" who ruled Babel, was identified as a giant, (Anunnaki in Sumeria,) equivalent to the Anakim of Deuteronomy, and the Anak of Numbers."He was the chief instigator of the tower of Babel. This was a human revolt or rebellion, which led to building a tower in the course of staging revenge against the Hebrew god Yahweh (the Sumerian god Enlil), lest he flood the world again. The tower was a symbol of worship and protection and became well known by many as the ziggurat of Etemenanki, in honor of the Babylonian supreme god MARDUK; the god of Mars."

More Evidence of Anakim in The Antideluvian Era:

According to the Bible, the Israelites were commanded by Yahweh to possess the land of Canaan by literally exterminating the inhabitants. Deuteronomy 9:1-2 reads:

1 "Hear, O Israel, you are today crossing the Jordan to go in and dispossess nations greater and mightier than you, cities great and fortified to the heavens, 2 a people great and tall, the sons of the An´a·kim, about whom you yourself have known and you yourself have heard it said, 'Who can make a firm stand before the sons of A´nak?'"

As corroboration of the survival of the Anakim, the historian Josephus observed: "There were still then left a race of giants who had bodies so large, and countenances so different from other men, that they were surprising to the sight and terrible to the hearing." [7]

The Bible Book Of Numbers 13:22, tells us that Moses sent out a reconnaissance mission into Negeb and to Mount Hebron. Whilst there, these ancient equivalents of Israeli Special Forces encountered `Arba` the son of Anak; founder of the city of Kiriath Arba of Hebron. The Israelite spies likened him and his people to the Giants of Genesis 6:4 and possibly the Rephaites. Below are some further examples from the scriptures which clearly indicate that the Anakim and their kind were still evident in the land of Canaan long after the Flood:

Emites: Were the original inhabitants of Moab. A powerful advanced civilization who were also tall of stature, so that they were, like the Anakim, called Giants.

Rephaites, Rephaim: The name of a giant people (Gen. 14:5; 15:20), who lived in Canaan before the time of Abram. They were said to be like the Anakim (Deut. 2:11, 20). Og the Amorite king of Bashan, was a descendant of the Rephaites (Josh. 12:4; 13:12). The last king of the race, he was defeated and killed by the Israelites at Edrei in the time of Moses (Num 21:33-35; Deut 3:1-7). His sarcophagus of iron (black basaltic rock) was recorded as being nearly fourteen feet long and six feet wide, which was said to be from Rabbath-Ammon (Ammonite), today Amman, capital of Jordan.

Zamzummite, Zamzummim: Described as "a people strong, numerous, and ...tall" (Deut. 2:21). They were the race of giants called the Rephaim (2 Sam 5:18, 22), who lived east of the River Jordan.

Anakim: Remnants of the Anakim remained in Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod and were still present during the days of Joshua (1500-1390 B.C.) as witnessed in the Book Of Joshua 11:21:

"And at that time came Joshua, and he cut off the Anakims from the mountains, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, from all the mountains of Judah, and from all the mountains of Israel: Joshua destroyed them utterly with their cities." 11:22 "There was none of the Anakims left in the land of the children of Israel: only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod, there remained (remnants)."

Joshua's battle to annihilate the Anakim from the land set the stage for future events. David was the second king of Judah and Israel between 1010-962 B.C., The Bible tells of his vanquishing of the Philistine giant Goliath, who was said to be between nine and eleven feet tall, depending on the length of a cubit, and probably of the Anakites. (Num. 13:33; Josh 11:22.)

The book of Samuel (2 Samuel 21:15-20.) also tells of other Rephaim. David and his men also killed three of them besides Goliath. These were:

Benob whose spear weighed three hundred shekels;

Saph a Philistine giant, of the race of Rapha.

Sippai in 1 Chron 20:4, who died in the battle of Gob; He was the brother of Goliath, and the Gittite of Gath, a phenomenal man whose name is not given "a giant with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in all."

Yahweh intended to utterly destroy the seed of Cain and that of the Anakim once and for all. But his `chosen people,` just wouldn't listen, and down through the ages since, humanity has suffered terribly, and continues to do so because of that disobedience to the creator's word.

In Part Three, we will conclude the series by tracing the `Bloodline` to the present day, and finally identify who or what truly rules our world, and here's a clue, it isn't the President Of The United States.

Who Rules The World?

Part 3

The Origin Of Evil

Ancient Mythology Or Occult Reality?

By Philip Jones
7-16-9

"It is almost a joke now in the Western world, in the 20th century, to use words like 'good and 'evil'. They have become almost old fashioned concepts, but they are very real and genuine concepts. These are concepts from a sphere which is higher than us. And instead of getting involved in base, petty, short-sighted political calculations and games. we have to recognize that the concentration of world Evil and the tremendous force of hatred is there and it's flowing from there throughout the world. And we have to stand up against it and not hasten to give to it, give to it, give to it, every-thing that it wants to swallow."

-- Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

Introduction

Having provided the reader in Parts One and Two with evidence, albeit of a somewhat gnostic[13] and mythical, that the `seed` of the Fallen Angels and that of the Satanic line of Cain survived the `Great Flood,` I will in this the concluding `episode` attempt to `connect the dots` and bring us up to the present day, and answer the question which is the very subject base of this article; namely; Who Rules The World?

Please be aware that this series of articles is pure hypothesis. I was not there, and did not perceive any of the events and circumstances depicted with one or another of my five senses. On the other hand, I hope the reader agrees that what I have written in some way helps to explain the dire circumstances we find ourselves in in this first decade of the twenty first century.

For the purposes of this article, the terms `Fallen Angels` is a general term used to describe both the Nephilim, who fell from pride with Lucifer, and also those `Son's Of God,` known as `The Watchers,` who led by Samyaza `fell` through lusting after the `daughters of men.` [10]

The Origin Of Evil:

Jesus Christ spoke of one He called "a murderer from the beginning" and "a liar and the father of lies" (John 8:44, NRSV). Here Jesus identifies the origin of evil and suffering, a being who initiated lying, deceit, hatred and murder-the enemy, the adversary of mankind, Lucifer the devil (1 Peter 5:8).

We wonder, and rightly so, what happens in the mind of a Criminal, President or a Dictator, that transforms him into a sadist, mass murderer, a savage beast with no compassion. What causes a human being to act in such a way? Such a change took place in the mind of the being who became Satan and through his seed, evil entered the world and through his seed, it is still here with us.

Scripture tells us he was once a glorious super angel whose name, Lucifer (Isaiah 14:12), meant "light-bringer." God says of this being: "You were the seal of perfection, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty. You were in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was your covering: You were the anointed cherub who covers; I established you; You were on the holy mountain of God; you walked back and forth in the midst of fiery stones. You were perfect in your ways from the day you were created, till iniquity was found in you" (Ezekiel 28:12-15).

Lucifer was a special kind of spirit, "the anointed cherub who covers"-an angel whose wings covered the very throne of God himself (compare Exodus 25:17-20; Hebrews 9:1-9, 23).

But something changed in Lucifer. God tells him: "How you have fallen from heaven, O morning star, son of the dawn! You have been cast down to the earth, you who once laid low the nations! You said in your heart, 'I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain. I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High'" (Isaiah 14:12-14, NIV).

Lucifer convinced himself he was as good as or even better than his Maker. He rebelled against God, determining to exalt himself above "the stars" of God; the other angels (Revelation 1:20). "You were filled with violence, and you sinned. So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God, and I expelled you ... Your heart became proud on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom because of your splendour ..." (Ezekiel 28:16-17, NIV).

Although the Bible introduces Lucifer as Satan when he seduces Eve in the Garden of Eden (Genesis 3), he has been around far longer. He was in effect the first criminal, a divine being whose mind and thinking grew corrupt, twisted and perverse. He introduced evil into the world, by inseminating Adam's wife, thereby be-getting Cain, and introducing the Satanic Bloodline into mankind. Then this greatest of sins was compounded further by the two hundred `Watcher's` of Samyaza, who `fell` through lusting after the daughters of men, and copulated with them producing a race of Giants known as the Gibborim or Anakim. This is the source of the evil with which humanity has struggled against ever since.

Ye Offspring Of Vipers:

That Jesus spoke of two distinct seeds, one that came from God through Adam, and another originating from Satan and the Fallen Angels, is a part of the Biblical record (which we shall examine in greater detail below). In Chapter Eight of the Gospel Of John, Christ states unequivocally when addressing the Pharisees, that they, the High Priests of Judaism, were the seed of the Satan.

Jesus makes reference in a number of places to Satan's children. In the parable of the `Tares and the Wheat,` he spoke of the farmer who sowed good seed in his field and his enemy came along during the night-time and sowed poisonous weeds, the tares among the wheat. When the farmer's servants saw the tares growing among the wheat they asked him if they should go and pull them. The farmer said: "No, you might pull up some of the wheat with them. Let them grow together until the time of the harvest, and then the reapers will first gather the tares into bundles to be burned, and then put the wheat in my barn."

In Matthew 13:38-39 Jesus explains, that the field is the world; the `Wheat,` the good seed are the children of Adam but the Tares are the children of Lucifer. One time, when addressing the Pharisees, Jesus says in Matthew 12:34: "O generation of vipers, how can ye being evil, speak good things? For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." Since the very beginning, they had borne the characteristics of their `father` Satan, and Jesus knew who they were!

In Matthew 23:29-35 it is recorded: "Woe unto you scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because ye build the tombs of the prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous, and say, If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets. Wherefore ye be witnesses unto yourselves, that ye are the children of them which killed the prophets. Fill ye up then the measure of your fathers. Ye serpents, ye genema (ye offspring, children) of vipers. How can ye escape the damnation of hell? That upon you may come all the righteous blood shed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel unto the blood of Zacharias, son of Barachias, whom you slew between the temple and the altar."

It is my contention that Jesus was identifying the Pharisees and their kind as an evolution entirely apart from the children of God through Adam and Seth. One which through intermarriage had eventually embodied in any or all races, retaining the characteristics of the proud and lustful, murderous and slanderous Fallen Angels from which they descended.

The established Christian Churches have refused to acknowledge what Jesus taught outright; that the `Tares,` the sons of Satan have been genetically sown among the good seed of the son's of Adam through Seth, and that they even today walk among us as Fallen Angels incarnate, and their offspring, who maintain the meticulous outward appearance of men and women, but whose blood seethes with hatred and wantonness, lacking entirely any sense of Godly righteousness.

As in the story told by Christ, the seed of God is embodied in every race, nation and tribe, and the seed of Lucifer/Satan has been sowed amongst them all. Throughout the Bible it records the two seed lines; Yahweh and Lucifer's. For example in the Weymouth translation, this same verse, John

3:12 reads, "We are not to resemble Cain who was a child of the evil one and killed his brother." The Phillips' translation reads, "We are none of us to have the spirit of Cain who was a son of the devil and murdered his brother." The superlative New English Bible reads: "Unlike Cain who was a child of the evil one and murdered his brother."

The Biblical verses that theologians often use as a basis to denounce the belief that there are on this earth today the literal descendants of Cain and therefore Satan, is John 8:31-33, in which Jesus is speaking to the Judeans;

"If ye continue in My doctrines indeed, then ye shall be My disciples; and you shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." They answered Him, "We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man." But even a casual reader of the Bible will know that all of Abraham's children had been in bondage at one time or another? Here is evidence that these people whom Jesus was addressing were not descendants of Abraham.

If they had been of any of the twelve tribes of Israel, they would have been in bondage the first time in Egypt. If they belonged to the ten northerly tribes, they would have been in bondage the second time in Assyria. If they were of the two tribe southern kingdom of Judah, they would have been in bondage the second time in Babylon. Yet the Judeans admitted they had never been in bondage to any man, thus demonstrating they weren't of Israel or Judah. Who of them could say that the Hebrew Patriarch Abraham was one of his ancestors?

The Edomites:

Esau and Jacob, the grandsons of Abraham were twin brothers, presumably born with the same bloodline. However, Esau married two Canaanite women in violation of Yahweh's law. In doing this, Esau's line became contaminated, because among the Canaanites, who were the progeny of Satan and the Fallen Angels, the evil bloodline thrived and coalesced.

Subsequently, Esau's descendants would carry the demon seed of Lucifer and transmit it widely. The Bible tells us that Esau and his two Canaanite wives moved down to Mount Seir, a rugged mountain range south-east of the Dead Sea. This is where the Anakim were said to live. Among the people who had the blood line of the Fallen Angels were the Horites. They were the cave dwellers also known as the Horim, who were of the seed of the Anakim..

Genesis 36:20-30 lists Esau's descendants. Listed are all the various chieftains among the family of Seir, the Horite Satanic line, including his daughter Timna. Genesis 36:12 records that Timna was a concubine to Esau's son Eliphaz and bore him a son, Amalek. The Old Testament account of Amalek and his tribe of Amalek is damning indeed and depicts them behaving entirely according to their Satanic bloodline. (Exodus 17:8-16 and Numbers 20:14-21).

When Nebuchadnezzar captured Jerusalem, his army, as was the military tradition in those times, looted and burned the city and then slaughtered the inhabitants. Proving themselves wicked, and no kinsmen to the `Sons Of Judah,` the Edomites came rushing in to assist in the massacre and plunder. The Bible book of Obadiah is almost a continuous condemnation of the Edomites. It also predicted their eventual slaughter and punishment for what they did. Obadiah verse 10 records: "For thy violence against thy brother Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off forever."

The Edomites, carrying the Satanic Bloodline arrived in the land of Judah during two migrations. At the same time that the tribes of Judah and Benjamin were suffering in forced exile in Babylon, the Edomites were driven out of Mount Seir by the Nabateans, an Arabic people from the east. So the Edomites were driven westward. They couldn't go directly west or south-west as that would have meant entering Egypt and they weren't strong enough to do battle with the Egyptians. Consequently they went slightly north-west and took over the southerly half of what had been the kingdom of Judah and settled there.

The second wave of Edomites arrived when Herod became king of Judea, under the protection of the Roman Empire. In 37 B.C., Rome formally recognized Herod as the local king of Judea. With him had come his Edomite followers who quickly overran the area. This is the same Herod that tried to murder Jesus as a baby.

Herod left the kingdom of Judea to his son Herod Archelaus, whom the Romans gave the title Ethnarch. For ten years he ruled as all tyrants do, until the people finally petitioned Rome to take control. From that time on, the province was ruled by a series of Roman procurators, of which Pilate was the sixth to hold office. Although the military government was entirely in the hands of the Roman procurators, and they were also in full charge of the tax collections for Rome, the Herodian Edomites still retained control of the entire religious apparatus and the temple, along with control of the local civil government, and could collect their own taxes.

But Jesus knew them for who they were. He recognized the two seed lines. He said clearly that they were the children of Lucifer. Both the Old and New Testaments recognize the two `Bloodlines;` The Adamic line of Yahweh's children, and the Satanic line of Satan, of which some of the most malevolent have come down through the line of Cain and thereafter Esau.

A Rage Of Angels:

Dr Paul D. Hanson of Harvard University when addressing the account of the `Fall` of Angels in the Books of Genesis and Enoch[10] writes:
"All of the evil in the world stems from from a heavenly event, the rebellion of a divine being and his legions, and more immediately from the resulting generation of their pernicious offspring in the world."

Does the Biblical tale of the `Fall of Angels` offer us an explanation in our own times regarding the apparent differential in stature and power among men? As in the authority and control exercised by the Illuminati Elite over the mass of humanity for example. If we for one moment turn from those ancient times so long ago, when Lucifer, the Nephilim and later the Watcher's of Heaven[11], insinuated their unwanted attentions into the lives of men, and consider those individuals on earth today who display so easily that magnetic personality and greater sense of self importance to which the `little people` always seem to defer. Those imposing and ingratiating men and women who seem to believe it is their `birthright` to rule the rest of us. The latter, who make up the great mass of humankind, being so thoroughly intimidated and in awe of the former, they become as their forefathers in antiquity were, the idolaters of `men` who believe themselves as Gods, rather than worshippers of their creator.

For countless Millennia, the Fallen Angels have been propagating themselves as the Rulers over the ruled. Modelled on the original prototype himself, they have `cloned` and carbon copied through ceaseless interbreeding an oppressive Luciferian Power Elite. These are the Caesars and Tyrants, the emperors and high priests, senators and warlords, money-changers and lawyers, secure in their private clubs and retreats, in firm control, with money and sex as their cherubim. They rule the world as if it was their own, or at the very least as `Proxy Lords` for their Satanic Master.

Few today seem to understand, or even care why so many people and even whole societies have become so angry, blasphemous, raging, rebellious and restless. Human Civilisation has become like a dying race whose core has become rotten. Is it because those who control us, and manipulate our opinions to suit their own, through their control of education, the media and all other avenues of information, are just not who or what we think they are?

In the early days of Christianity, between the second and fourth centuries A.D., the question of Satan and the `Fallen Angels` becoming corporeal, along with the very nature of evil itself occupied the thoughts and debates of those we call the `Church Fathers.` Convinced that the `wicked ones` were still living amongst men, they turned to the Book Of Enoch for explanations. In the second century for example, Justin Martyr ascribed all evil to Demons whom he alleged to be the offspring of those `Watchers` who fell from grace through lust after the daughters of men.

One of the most influential of the early clerics was `Origen,` much of whose writing was later banned by the Church. He believed that Angels could embody as men, and along with others of his time suggested that the wicked ones amongst us, the Caligula's, Nero's and all the other brutal murderers, men without conscience or pity, were of an entirely different psychological and spiritual make-up than others. Such killers, when angered, respond with a species of inhuman viciousness, without either mercy or remorse. A depravity that is surely derived from their ungodly father. Origen and his fellows reasoned that the very cause of the wickedness in the world at that time was due to the continued presence and influence in the lives of men of the Nephilim and Watchers.

So are the `Fallen Angels` and their descendants, down through the line of the Anakim and Cain, really with us today and if so how do we recognise them? I would suggest like the early church fathers that they are. And like any rotten tree, we can judge them by their fruit.

They have no remorse nor regret for their evil ways and malevolent conduct, as the way to forgiveness was barred them an eternity since. They have no pity for their victims, slaughtered in their millions in wars of aggression few except they and their blood-kin, understand the purpose of. Being so filled with evil, they are unable to respond to the cries of mankind begging for them to stop creating terrible weapons of mass destruction. Nor do they allow any worthwhile redress to all those whose money they have misappropriated in the inner sanctums of International Banking Houses. Instead, they take our gold, and give in return only worthless inflated `Fiat` currency; pieces of paper in exchange for our toil and labour.

By their words and their deeds, the Fallen Angels and their kind have been eroding our planet for a very long time, along with our civilisation, our religion, our hearts and our souls. Like the `Giants` of Genesis, their appetites are insatiable and voracious.

As I said at the very beginning of Part One, I do not believe that my fellow men and women are capable in themselves of such rancorous evil and malevolence. Only Satan himself, his embodied `Nephilim` [12], the Watchers and their offspring, could have masterminded such a complex, interwoven and diabolically cunning scheme to subjugate humankind to their total domination.

These `Fallen Angels` and their kin, relatively few in number as they are, want us to believe that they are like us, for it is in their anonymity that their strength lies. They masquerade as the children of Adam, but that they are not! They are the very origin of our despair. They are the murderers, the torturers, the tormentors. They are the ones who waged ceaseless wars of conquest, and committed unimaginable atrocities. They are those who sent men, women and children to the concentration camps of Nazi Germany and

Soviet Russia, and they are still with us today, wielding more power than ever before, conducting false flag operations against those who mistakenly consider them as `protectors.` It is they who are behind the slaughter in Iraq and Afghanistan, and it is them behind the manipulated global financial crisis.

Still, they heap the guilt for their crimes against humanity, upon specific races or nations, by appearing to be Italian or German, Jew or Japanese, black or white, Russian or American, thereby escaping human justice, but surely not the divine retribution due them. Using their divide and conquer strategy, they set brother against brother, wives against husbands, children against parents, and then when they are ready, they will unleash their final global holocaust. This has been the deadly game they have played against mankind since the beginning of time.

But now, as their conspiracy reaches it's conclusion, they are ever more forced to raise their heads above the ramparts, and more and more people are beginning to recognise them. It really isn't that difficult. Just apply `Cui Bono` or `who benefits,` to world events and the clouds of confusion lift quickly enough.

And so to identifying then.

The Illuminati:

The `Illuminati,` is the name given to those individuals and secret organizations who working together, and apart, continue to this day, to do the work of Lucifer, whom they see as their ancient ancestor. The order's existence can be traced back to Babylon, in the sixth century BC, and coincided with the advent of the Jewish heresy of the Kabbalah. They believe themselves the `descended ones` of the Satanic Bloodline of Lucifer and the Fallen Angels, continued through the line of Cain and the `Anakim,` who they say taught them the `Ancient Mysteries,` which they have been hoarding down through the centuries, passing on the knowledge from generation to generation.

The Book of Enoch tells is that it is these `Fallen Ones`, who first introduced humanity to the occult arts, including astrology, magic and alchemy. This period in history is believed by occultists to accord with the lost continent of Atlantis. Illuminati Mythology, much of which conforms to the `Secret Doctrine` of Madam Helena P. Blavatsky [9]maintains that the race produced by the intermixing of the Fallen Angels and humans is the Aryans.

According to Kabbalistic interpretation, the entire line of Jewish kings were descended from Jacob's son Judah and his wife Bath-Shua, a Canaanite woman. They were the ancestors of King David and his `Royal` line. King Solomon, to whom much of Kabbalistic tradition is attributed, was the son of David by Bathsheba, a Hittite woman, and the Hittite's were yet another of the Canaanite peoples believed to be derived from the Anakim. Therefore, according to Kabbalistic interpretation, although the `Messiah` is to be a descendant of the royal line of David, being the `Son of David,` he is also descended from the Satanic lineage of the Fallen Angels.

The Unholy Blood And The Unholy Grail: Tracing Cain.

The books `The Holy Blood And The Holy Grail` and more recently, the `Da'vinci Code,` have popularised the idea that what has become known as the `Grail Bloodline` is sacred because it came from Christ, and that this most important of the Illuminati bloodlines, was derived originally from the union of Jesus and Mary Magdalene. However, the likelihood of this possibility is slim to none, as the core doctrines of this lineage are based on Gnostic principals. Rather, the myth of the union between Jesus and Mary Magdalene was preserved to disguise a more occult and much more sinister secret.

The Merovingian Dynasty of kings who we are told descended from this bloodline, were known as the `sorcerer-kings,` some of whom either insinuated or stated outright that they were the descendants of Lucifer. A number of authors claim this thesis is true, including Fritz Springmeier who in his book; `The Thirteen Bloodlines of the Illuminati` [1] writes:

"In typical Gnostic fashion, descendants of the Merovingians claim to have the blood of both Christ and Satan in their veins. Given the fact that this theme (or a variation of it) recurs with some regularity, and given that it would appear to be consistent with the sort of dualism which permeates the story of this bloodline, we began to wonder if there might not be some traditions from which such a notion could have arisen."

We must remember that this bloodline descended from the Biblical Cain, the Fallen Angels and ultimately Lucifer. Rabbinic lore, corroborates the hypothesis that Cain was not the son of Adam, but of Lucifer/Satan. Some Hebrew Apocryphal texts maintain that when Lucifer seduced Eve, the fruit of that union was Cain. That the Merovingians knew of this and believed it, is beyond much doubt, and it was likely the basis of their alleged assertion that they possessed the blood of both Christ and Lucifer. This notion is expressed in a famous poem by Charles Peguy, which states:

"The arms of Jesus are the Cross of Lorraine,
Both the blood in the artery and the blood in the vein,
Both the source of grace and the clear fontaine;

The arms of Satan are the Cross of Lorraine,
And the same artery and the same vein,
And the same blood and the troubled fontaine."

The tradition of the Cain Satanic Bloodline is further evidenced in the form of a strange Gnostic sect called the Cainites [2](named after the race of Cain's descendants). Like some other sects at that time, the Cainites believed that in order to achieve salvation, one needed to "make the journey through everything." Epiphanius describes them as a group `which consecrated lustful or illegal acts to various heavenly beings` as a species of sacrament. Many scholars have likened them to Satanists.

By tracing their ancestry back to Judah and Bath- Shua, [3] through the Royal House of David, the Merovingians [4] saw themselves as inheritors of the `Sacred` blood, as do their descendants, the Illuminati today. This Frankish Dynasty appears central to the entire plot, as their genealogy lends weight to the hypothesis that the Satanic Bloodline survived down to modern times through them and the other major Illuminati Bloodlines as detailed in Fritz Springmeier's book mentioned above.

Throughout the centuries, over what is a vast breadth of time, these Illuminati `families` [1] have been carefully intermarrying with each other, to preserve their `unholy` bloodline, handing on their arcane knowledge from generation to generation. This is the reason why such premier members of this evil cabal, such as the Rothschild's and the various Royal and Aristocratic Houses of Europe have persisted in the practice of intermarriage; in order to maintain both the purity of the `Bloodline` and keep the hidden knowledge of ages to themselves. The most secret of that knowledge being that Lucifer and his line are alive and well and living amongst us manipulating, controlling, and increasingly micromanaging our lives.

Network Solutions For A New World Order:

Today, in this first decade of the twenty first century, the Illuminati is dominated by the most powerful banking dynasties of the world, the Rothschild's[5]and Rokerfellers[6] and their fellow travellers often referred to as the `Global Elite.` [7] They hold absolute sway over nations and economies, and as we have seen in the previous parts to this series, have intentionally and adversely perverted and corrupted national and indigenous cultures on a global scale. The Illuminati is a world wide web that functions in a kind of parallel world, operating through fronts of legitimacy on the one hand, and criminal activities on the other.

Their method of operation, or modus operandi, has been to degrade and deprave the societies of the world, breaking down their moral fabric, deconstructing all decency and then promoting every vice, perversion, greed and war. In the enslavement of the earth's nations through massive debt, they ensure subservience and acquiescence, and bring about the gradual transfer of national sovereignty to supranational government. Through their insider knowledge and manipulation of the stock markets, they siphon off the wealth of the mesmerised and bewildered masses, and as we are only just beginning to witness, they are, by the diabolical use of Hegelian Dialectics [8], creating a global economic cataclysm, with which they intend to prove to us our utter inability to govern ourselves, and then offer their own solutions as salvation.

They have no concept of morality or restraint. They fund their `underworld` activities by control of the world's illegal arms trade, narcotics trafficking, and prostitution. Their operations are interconnected with those of the world's leading intelligence services, and international crime syndicates, like the Mafia and their Asian variants. Adopting any façade to advance their collective goals, they work hand in glove with Freemasonry and numerous other secret societies, and are responsible for the emergence of the New Age Movement and a plethora of other subversive cults, such as Scientology and others.

By utilising an almost unearthly degree of financial and political power, they plan to ferment a Third World War from which out of the ashes of the expired civilisations of our time, their God Lucifer will rise, like a phoenix from the fire, ushering in their New World Order. The precursors to this global conflagration are happening right now, without most of humanity even being aware of it.

Conclusion:

As I have maintained throughout, this is an hypothesis and only that. But if the `shoe` fits? I believe, nay, I am sure, that there are indeed `Fallen Angels,` and that they have been among us for at least half a million years, and are with us still. That they are in the service of Satan himself and have embodied here on earth and corrupted the souls of mankind. That through their breeding with the Satanic line of Cain, they have created a Deeply Malevolent Bloodline, which survived the flood and has continued to procreate down through the ages.

Today, we find them holding the positions of power, in Church and State, as the prime movers in matters of war and global finance; sitting in the Banking Houses and on policy making councils such as the Bilderberg Group, Council On Foreign Relations, and the like, which determine the actual fate of mankind. They exercise inordinate control over humanity, by depopulation agendas and genetic engineering, the control of energy and commodities, education and the media, and by ideological and psychopolitical strategies to divide and rule on all fronts.

The planet' food supply is manipulated by them, in order to achieve strategic objectives. Their utter disdain for mankind is becoming ever more apparent with each passing day. They seem to regard us as little more than beasts to do their bidding. Even though we outnumber them by millions, they contain us by the control and regulation of the basic necessities of life, population control through wars, abortions and a multitude of other means (which I have covered previously in other articles).

So why do we stand idly by and let them feed their alcohol and drugs to our youth? Why are we allowing them to destroy our economies and our nations, before our children ever have the chance to live their lives to the fullest course in what should be a beautiful life? Our pathetic condition of apathy, non-awareness and non-involvement has allowed them to get away with murder on a monstrous scale for centuries. By our irresponsibility and inaction, they have turned the streets of our cities into `no go` areas, where people fear for their lives and those of their loved ones. We have allowed their creation of a legal system which releases murderers, rapists and paedophiles back onto the streets to repeat their vile deeds over and over again.

Yet still, the stupefied deafeningly silent majority persists, just like the Ostrich with it's head in the sand, resplendent in it's self imposed state of cognitive dissonance, denying the obvious; that the force of evil that Alexander Solzhenitsyn spoke of, is now `in your face` and as clear as daylight, and constructing a global control grid around all our lives, that unless stopped now, will enslave what is left of the world population after their diabolical plans are executed.

The hitherto untold story of men and `Fallen Angels` is just a `crack in the door` of the full and final expose of the manipulators and the manipulated, the oppressors and the oppressed. But it is a beginning!

So who does `Rule The World`? Well, I can only concur with the Holy Scriptures that until our creator decides otherwise; it is Satan, his legions of Fallen Angels and their Blood-kin in the Illuminati.

And how do we recognise them? Well, as Jesus said: "By their deeds you will know them."

So just pick up a `news` paper, turn on the prime time news, and wherever you see so called `leaders of nations` justifying wars of aggression, mass slaughter, lies, deception, vice, atrocity, perversion, along with bare faced lies about overpopulation, climate change and a multitude of measures all designed to take away ever more your personal liberty, all justified on the baseless grounds of National and or Global Security; That's them!
